

Masters Gallery Foods relies on cool maintenance solutions from Stoffel

Masters Gallery Foods in Plymouth, Wisconsin, is a leading supplier of private label cheese products.

With shifts operating around the clock in the unique environment of a refrigerated facility, they can't afford to have any one of their fleet of 17 lift trucks down for repairs.

"Working in 34-degree temperatures puts a particular type of wear and tear on a lift truck," according to Masters Gallery Maintenance Foreman Tim Lenz. "In addition to the strain the colder temperatures create, we have to deal with the additional issues of condensation and the threat of water getting into the electronics."

"We rely on our scheduled maintenance with Stoffel Equipment to keep all of our trucks in prime working condition. If we do have an unexpected problem, their service department is very responsive. They're almost always here the same day, and it's never more than 24 hours. I've worked with other companies in the past, and I can tell you that none of them could match Stoffel's responsiveness when it comes to service. We've been working with Stoffel equipment since 1989."

"Having Stoffel Equipment perform our scheduled maintenance keeps our fleet up and running. And, you can't beat their service department for responsiveness. If it weren't for Stoffel's service, we'd have to try and find the additional budget for more lift trucks just as a back up."
